About This Book

Carthya is on the brink of destruction. Outside enemies pose a danger on every border, and civil unrest inside the country threatens war on every level. In order to against threatening enemies, a

who can impersonate the King order to find the best candidate for prince, he must kidnap many boys and have them compete for the role.

Conner moves his orphan captives into his luxurious mansion and the competition begins. The boys are forced to train in academics, sword fighting, horseback riding and other royal lessons in order to become Prince Jaron in just two weeks!

The boys must agree to Conner's twisted game because their lives rest on the point of a nobleman's sword. Those who fail will face an untimely and painful death.

Lies. Death. Deception. And all in the name of greed.
