

Zac shrugged. It was just a huntsman spider, and he wasn't scared of them. Sure, it was huge, but Zac knew it wouldn't bite him.

“Sorry, little fella,” grinned Zac, stepping around the web.

Then Zac remembered something about huntsman spiders that he'd seen on Leon's favourite TV show, Creepy Creatures.

This spider has a web, thought Zac, so it must be a fake! He reached carefully into the web and grabbed the spider. Sure enough, it was made of latex.

It's very realistic, thought Zac, impressed. Whoever made it must have REALLY wanted to scare people away. He dropped it into his backpack. It would come in handy the next time he wanted to play a joke on Leon.

Then Zac grabbed hold of the door handle. Time to start investigating. But the moment he began turning the handle, Zac heard a loud, spooky voice.

KEEEEEP OOOOOUUUUT!
