Better Off Friends

By Elizabeth Eulberg

Macallan and Levi are best friends. They're together all the time, they have many inside jokes, they understand each other — but they're most certainly NOT romantically involved. Their friendship is confusing to everyone else — guys and girls can't be just friends! Guys won't ask out Mac because they assume she's dating Levi, and Levi's relationships suffer because he spends too much time with Mac. And when Levi suddenly realizes he's in love with Mac, everything changes. Are Mac and Levi better off friends, or have they been denying what everyone else has known all along — that what they have is true love?
