

Book Talk

Books We Love This Month

Manor of Secrets

By Katherine Longshore

Don't call this Downton Abbey for teens, but between us...it is! Manor of Secrets is rich with historical elements from the early twentieth century setting. It is a great lady of the manor/below the stairs story with so many plot twists and surprises, you'll be turning the pages as fast as you can. Many things in the Manor are not as they seem. Lady Charlotte feels suffocated by the confines of upper-crust society. She longs to be a writer and to experience the world beyond the Manor; to have adventures, and yes, even romance. Her life will be turned upside down as truths are revealed.

Ages 12 and up

"I loved this book because I'm a sucker for a good period piece and because it satisfied my craving for Downton Abbey while I wait for the television series to start back up in January."

— Susan

 SCHOLASTIC

www.scholastic.ca