

Book Talk

Books We Love This Month

Sorrow's Knot

By Erin Bow

Imagine a world that might be somewhere in North America, a long time ago. It is a world of girls and women, myths, magic, and powerful storytelling. When people die, their spirits sometimes come back for the living, and can only be held at bay by weaving powerful scaffolds from a series of mystical, complex knots. This is the story of a young weaver growing into her own power, and a moving contemplation about how the things we think will protect us can trap us instead.

Ages 12 and up

“I loved this book because it was full of magic, mystery, and felt like a secret path to a new way of thinking about the world.”

— Janet

 SCHOLASTIC

www.scholastic.ca