Chapter 18: Matchmaker, Matchmaker

Working with Words—Alliteration

Alliteration is the use of the same sound at the beginning of words and is often used in poetry or tongue twisters. Advertisements also use alliteration to grab attention.

For example: Big, bad, brown bear.

She sells seashells by the seashore.

Matchmaker, matchmaker

Find and write three more examples of alliteration.
