Choosing and motivating

Organising

Plan a class reading schedule. Decide how many pages to set for reading each week. Select exercises from the Self-Study section at the back of the reader and extra activities from this resource sheet to go with each chunk of reading. (Answers on page 4.)

Using the CD

Students can listen and follow in their books. They can listen and then read. They can read and then listen. All these activities will improve their reading speeds and skills.

Using the DVD

Select the English Language option on the DVD. The film is 103 minutes long. You could show it in chunks of, say, 10–15 minutes in parallel with the class reading schedule. Alternatively, choose key scenes and set language tasks related to them.

Glossary

Go to ‘New Words’ at the back of the reader. Translate the words with the class or get students to find the meanings at home. The Vocabulary Builder on page 3 of this resource sheet practises the new words in a different context.

Fact Files

Set these as self-study or use for whole class work. These provide background information about the making of the film The Queen, the history of the British Monarchy, and the life of Princess Diana.

What did they think?

Get everyone to do a written or spoken review of The Queen. Compare opinions. Will they watch the DVD? Did you like it? Let us know at readers@scholasticeltreaders.com.

   12. This word describes the Queen and her family.
   13. To end a marriage by law.
   15. A long, written statement which is read to a group of people.

FINAL TASKS
1 Imagine you are one of the Queen’s servants in Balmoral. Write about what happens in the castle during the days before the Royal Family return to London. Start like this:
   Things are very difficult here at Balmoral for the Royal Family. Today Prince William and Prince Harry saw the newspapers, and the Queen…

2 Choose one of the photos in the book which show the Queen and at least one other person. Describe what is happening in the picture, what has just happened and what is going to happen.

3 You are a reporter for a newspaper. Interview a member of the Royal Family just before they leave Balmoral for London. After the interview, write an article for your newspaper. Start like this:
   We spoke to the Queen and Prince Philip as they were looking at the flowers outside Balmoral.
   Interviewer: Your majesty, can you tell me…?
   The Queen: …
THE SUCCESS OF THE QUEEN (pages 56–7)
Research and Presentation
Students work in small groups. Each group chooses a film about a famous person, or family. They research the information and also whether or not it was successful. They must give reasons and present their findings to the rest of the class.

THE BRITISH MONARCHY (pages 58–9)
Quiz
Divide the class into two groups.
Group 1 must write ten questions from the spread to give to group 2. Group 2 must write the answers to ten questions. Each group then gives their list to the other group. Group 1 try and write the questions for group 2’s answers; group 2 try and write answers to group 1’s questions.

Debate
Look at the discussion activity on page 59 with your students. Brainstorm countries around the world that have a monarchy. Are they all similar in modern life? Tell students they are going to debate the following question: Do countries need a monarchy?
Divide the class into two groups. Group one will argue in support of the monarchy, and group two will argue against it. Ask students to write down reasons for or against, and to nominate three speakers from their group. Each group shares their ideas, and the speakers present their ideas to the class. Finally, students express their views by voting.

PRINCESS DIANA (pages 60–1)
Students choose and then research the life of a famous person from their own country. Are they like Diana? In what ways is it different? The class discuss these questions after presenting their biographies.

FILM FOLLOW-UP
If you plan to show the film in class, watch it yourself first. Identify good places to stop and pause. Tell students that it’s OK not to understand every word. With practice, they will understand more and more.

Scriptwriters
Choose a short sequence and show it to the class twice, without the sound. Students must imagine what the characters are saying (more or less) and write a possible script in groups. They use this script to ‘dub’ the sequence when you play it a third time. Finally, play the sequence with sound so they can compare their ideas with the original.

Observing
Choose a short scene before class and prepare questions on it. Tell students to watch and observe details about what is happening in the scene, what people are wearing etc. After students have watched the scene, ask them questions about it. (What did the Queen see in her neighbour’s farm building? How did she feel? etc.) Play the scene again for students to check their answers.

Plot tracking
Choose a scene which comes at a crucial point in the plot (for example, when the Queen first hears the news of Princess Diana’s death). Ask students to draw a timeline or flow chart up to this point, explaining in note form what has happened so far.
