2. Understanding Form and Style: Specific Expectations By the end of grade 8, students will:

Text Forms

2.1 analyse a variety of text forms and explain how their particular characteristics help communicate meaning, with a focus on literary texts such as a memoir (e.g., the author's personality and/or special experience of the subject are an important part of the narrative, even if the author is not the subject of the narrative), graphic texts such as a map (e.g., the different colours for land and water help readers understand what geographical features they are looking at), and informational texts such as a magazine article (e.g., sidebars allow minor themes to be developed in detail without interrupting the main narrative)

All Inquiry Units

Text Patterns

2.2 analyse increasingly complex texts to identify different types of organizational patterns used in them and explain how the patterns help communicate meaning (e.g., a "before-and-after" comparison in an advertisement; time order and cause-and-effect in an online magazine or newspaper article)

Inquiry Units:

Mixed Messages pages 26-27, 45, 52, 57 Surviving Extremes pages 26, 31, 51, 70

Text Features

2.3 identify a variety of text features and explain how they help communicate meaning (e.g., tree diagrams, tables, endnotes, and "Works Cited" or "References" lists help readers locate information and understand its context)

Teacher prompt: "What do the types of sources in the 'References' list tell you about the author's research?"

Elements of Style

2.4 identify a range of elements of style — including symbolism, irony, analogy, metaphor, and other rhetorical devices — and explain how they help communicate meaning and enhance the effectiveness of texts (e.g., the use of dramatic irony, in which the audience understands the implications of words or actions better than the characters do themselves, can create humour or a sense of foreboding)

Inquiry Units:

3. READING WITH FLUENCY: SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS By the end of grade 8, students will:

Reading Familiar Words

3.1 automatically read and understand most words in a wide range of reading contexts (e.g., words from grade-level texts; terminology used in discussions and posted in the classroom; words from shared-, guided-, and independent treading texts, electronic texts, and resource material used in the curriculum subject areas)

Reading Unfamiliar Words

3.2 predict the meaning of and rapidly solve unfamiliar words using different types of cues, including:

- semantic (meaning) cues (e.g., base words, prefixes, suffixes, phrases, sentences, and visuals that activate existing knowledge of oral and written language);
- syntactic (language structure) cues (e.g., word order and the relationship between words, language patterns, punctuation);
- graphophonic (phonological and graphic) cues (e.g., familiar words within larger words, syllables within larger words, similarities between words with known spelling patterns and unknown words)

Metacognition

4.1 identify the strategies they found most helpful before, during, and after reading and explain, in conversation with the teacher and/or peers or in a reader's notebook/reflective journal, how they can use these and other strategies to improve as readers

Teacher prompts: "What strategies do you use most consistently to help you understand a new text?" "What types of questions do you ask yourself to help you monitor your reading?" 1. UNDERSTANDING MEDIA TEXTS: SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS

By the end of grade 8, students will:

Purpose and Audience

1.1 explain how a variety of media texts address their intended purpose and audience (e.g., this stage production based on a popular novel uses music and lighting to enhance the original and appeal to its fans; this commercial for a sports car uses fast-paced editing and rock music to appeal to the target audience – young, single men and women)

Teacher prompts: "Why might a producer think that yet another version of this well-known story would attract a wide audience?" "What kind of driver is this car advertisement designed to appeal to?"

Making Inferences/Interpreting Messages

1.2 interpret increasingly complex or difficult media texts, using overt and implied messages as evidence for their interpretations (e.g., compare the coverage of a lead story in a morning newspaper to the coverage of that story on the evening news; compare the order in which news stories are reported on two different television channels and suggest reasons for the differences; compare the treatment of a historical figure in a movie to his or her treatment in a print biography)

Teacher prompts: "Did the newspaper and the television news program use the same lead story? Why or why not? Did the different news sources provide different information on the same topic? Did they take a texts (e.g., explain how a series of newspaper stories on a controversial issue captured and maintained their interest; explain the similarities and differences in the treatment of a particular topic or theme in different media texts and evaluate the relative effectiveness of the treatments; as a class, evaluate the media's coverage of a social or environmental issue over a two-week period)

The Big Picture pages 32-33

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds pages 26, 60, 62-63 Spies Around Us pages 34, 56-57,,62

Audience Responses

1.4 explain why different audiences (e.g., with respect to gender, age, culture, race, income level) might have different responses to a variety of media texts (e.g., predict how a member of a particular age/gender/ ethnocultural/socioeconomic group might react to a controversial article in a print or online news magazine and give reasons for their prediction)

Teacher prompt: "Do you think all members of a particular group would react the same way to this issue? Could an older person react the same way as a teenager? Why, or why not?"

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds pages 27, 62-63 Spies Around Us pages 57-58, 66

Point of View

1.5 demonstrate understanding that different media texts reflect different points of view and that some texts reflect multiple points of view (e.g., a television broadcast of a sports game presents the views of fans, the announcers, the sponsors, and the television network; different media texts represent people of different age, gender, income level, or ethnocultural background differently, communicating obvious or subtle messages that might indicate bias or stereotyping; different points of view are often presented in a news report of a conflict)

Teacher prompts: "What different groups are represented in the text? Are the different groups treated differently? If so, how?"

"In this news report about a conflict between two

Production Perspectives

1.6 identify who produces various media texts and determine the commercial, ideological, political, cultural, and/or artistic interests or perspectives that the texts may involve (e.g., a music company's interest in a recording may be different from that of the artist; the company that produces a video game and the game's creator may have different views on how the game should be promoted)

Teacher prompt: "How are commercial and artistic interests reflected in the contents and presentation of this CD by your favourite group?" "Explain how a more ideological approach might affect the appeal of this magazine for its current broad range of readers."

2. Understanding Media Forms, Conventions, and Techniques: Specific Expectations By the end of grade 8, students will:

Form

2.1 explain how individual elements of various media forms combine to create, reinforce, and/or enhance meaning (e.g., print advertisements use text, images, colour, different fonts, and different camera angles in a seamless combination to create an effect)

Teacher prompt: "Why do you think each of these elements is included? How are the elements combined to create a coherent message?"

Inquiry Units:

Mixed Messages pages 26-28, 31-33, 37, 39-41, 43, 45-47, 49, 52-53, 57, 59, 63-65 Surviving Extremes pages 28-29, 31, 34-36, 39, 42-45, 49, 51-52, 56, 58-60, 67-68, 70 The Big Picture pages 31-34

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds page 63 Spies Around Us pages 30-34, 56-57, 62, 65

Conventions and Techniques

2.2 identify the conventions and techniques used in a variety of media forms and explain how they help convey meaning and influence or engage the audience (e.g., website conventions: home pages provide users with a convenient preview of the types of information available; website techniques: "sidebars" with inviting audio/video elements entice viewers to browse and explore new topics that might not have been their first priority)

Inquiry Units:

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds page 63 Spies Around Us pages 30-34, 56-57, 59, 62, 65

3. CREATING MEDIA TEXTS: SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS

By the end of grade 8, students will:

Purpose and Audience

3.1 explain why they have chosen the topic for a media text they plan to create (e.g. a poster advertising a class fund-raising campaign to appeal to local parent groups, businesses, or service organizations), and identify challenges they may face in engaging and/or influencing their intended audience

Teacher prompt: "What are the challenges involved in reaching each of these groups? How can you appeal to all of the groups in a single poster? If you were to develop three posters, one for each of them, how would the posters differ?"

Inquiry Units:

Mixed Messages pages 69, 73

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds pages 63-64 Spies Around Us pages 62-64

Form

3.2 identify an appropriate form to suit the purpose and audience for a media text they plan to create (e.g., a multimedia presentation about their class or grade, to be presented to parents during graduation ceremonies) and explain why it is an appropriate choice

Teacher prompt: "What different types of media could you use for the presentation? How would they be organized and combined?"

Inquiry Units:

Mixed Messages pages 69, 73

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds pages 63-64 Spies Around Us pages 63-64

Conventions and Techniques

3.3 identify conventions and techniques appropriate to the form chosen for a media text they plan to create, and explain how they will use the conventions and techniques to help communicate their message (e.g., conventions in advertisements for a product to appeal to different age groups among the students: text, images, "free offer" promotional gimmicks; techniques: use of age-appropriate content in all elements of the advertisement)

Teacher prompt: "What are the important things you need to know about your audience when designing your media text?"

Inquiry Units:

Mixed Messages pages 63-66, 68-73

Book Club Units:

Future Worlds pages 63-64 Spies Around Us pages 63-64

Producing Media Texts

- 3.4 produce a variety of media texts of some technical complexity for specific purposes and audiences, using appropriate forms, conventions, and techniques (e.g.,
- a multimedia presentation examining two or more elements of a narrative, such as theme, plot, setting, or character
- a one-minute video advertising a class fundraising project
- a website based on the content of a unit of study
- a report on school sports events to be presented during morning announcements
- magazine advertisements for a particular product, aimed at different age groups among the students in the school
- an interview with a family member about his or her cultural heritage for publication in a school or community magazine/newspaper
- a public-service announcement on a current issue that is relevant to their fellow students, such as daily physical activity, literacy, or bullying
- a storyboard for a video of a favourite song (that is not available as a video)
