

“Put those skates back on,” said Grandpa.
“It’s time for a little holiday hockey.”
Brady shrugged, but he laced up his skates.

Brady’s whole family played for hours. It had just started snowing when Brady’s mother brought out cocoa. “Time to come in,” she said.