

In two weeks, the caterpillar is two inches long. It spins a silk button so it can hang upside down.

The caterpillar splits its skin one last time, and inside is the beautiful chrysalis. Over the next two weeks, a butterfly will grow inside the chrysalis.